Introduction

Patients with chronic respiratory diseases are likely to die prematurely from their illness and the pulmonologists are often called upon to participate in the care of terminally ill patients. Palliative and end of life care is one of the clinical capabilities in Practice recommended in specialist respiratory medicine training. The workshop will focus on integrating the principles of palliative care into Pulmonology practice with special focus on Chronic Lung Diseases.

Highlights of Workshop

- Benefits of integrating palliative care in patients with advanced lung diseases
- Chronic breathlessness syndrome: Management and focus on quality of life of patients
- Management of other challenging symptoms like fatigue, insomnia, anorexia, pain and delirium in chronic respiratory conditions and in end-of-life care
- Serious illness conversation, difficult dialogues and advance care planning.
- Ethical and legal dilemma in delivering holistic end of life care.
- Hospice Tour and Interaction with a multidisciplinary team.
